

CLC News Release

04.04.2022 Five more firms join CO₂nstruct Zero

Momentum continues to build around CO₂nstruct Zero, the industry's united response to the need to drive carbon out of construction.

Today (4 April 2022) five more companies from across the broad spectrum of construction have signed up to become CO₂nstruct Zero Business Champions.

CO₂nstruct Zero was launched last year to unify industry efforts to cut carbon. The campaign focusses on nine priorities including moves to zero emission plant, retrofitting existing buildings, measuring carbon use and developing low carbon materials.

CO₂nstruct Zero Business Champions are businesses that have made commitments in relation to these priorities and have agreed to share their good practice with the wider industry. The newest Business Champions are:

- Cara
- Civco
- Naylor Industries
- Timloc Building Products
- Tilbury Douglas

CLC co-chair Andy Mitchell said: "We are now moving into our second year of the CO₂nstruct Zero campaign, but I am pleased to see that we are seeing no let-up in the number of companies that are looking to get on board. These latest Champions have made a commitment to work collaboratively as we live up to the promises we made at COP26 to reduce the carbon use of the UK construction sector"

About the Construction Leadership Council (CLC)

The CLC's mission is to provide sector leadership to the construction industry. The expanded CLC has twelve workstreams that operate collaboratively to address the biggest issues facing the sector. Workstreams include skills and inclusion, building safety, Net Zero and business models. The CLC is co-chaired by Lee Rowley MP, Minister for Business and Industry, and Andy Mitchell CBE, CEO of Thames Tideway.